A Plan for the Beginning Orchestral Student

Low Cost - No Need To Buy

The low lease fee gives your child the opportunity to start in the school orchestra. We will place a quality name brand instrument in the hands of your child so that he or she can have the opportunity to experience this special appreciation for music.

Your initial lease fee:

Violins and Violas: $23.00/Month

Celli: $45.00/Month

*Basses: $75.00/Month

Lease As Long As You Like

With this plan there is no additional charge for exchanging to a larger instrument as your child grows. (For example: if you change from a 1/2 size violin to a 3/4 size violin, the monthly lease fee stays the same.)

When your child is ready for a full-size instrument, you may apply 100% of your accumulated lease credit toward the purchase of a new instrument or customized outfit.

Our Objective is to help you and your child select an instrument that will best fit his/her musical needs and your pocketbook. Our knowledgeable musical instrument sales people are ready to answer your questions.

*Availability is limited.

Lease period must be continuous and lease fee credit cannot exceed 1/2 the regular price of the instrument or outfit purchased. Lease credit can be used on one transaction therefore all items in custom outfits must be purchased together to use lease credit on outfit. Does not include maintenance and repair fees.

Maintenance & Repair Coverage (M & R)

This plan offered by ECKROTH MUSIC provides parents and students with a service agreement which covers maintenance service by our qualified repair technicians. This service includes all strings, adjustments and repairs needed to keep the instrument in excellent playing condition including any accidental damage.

- M & R coverage for violins and violas is $5.45 per month and is added to your payment each month.
- M & R coverage for cello is $6.45 per month and is added to your payment each month.
- M & R coverage for basses is $7.95 per month and is added to your payment each month.

Your Leased Instrument May Be Returned To The Store At Any Time

In this event your child does not continue to play, simply return the instrument to ECKROTH MUSIC and your lease payments automatically cease.

If you have any questions regarding any of the information included on this brochure, please feel free to contact any of our musical instrument staff at any of our locations. We are here to help you!

What your child can learn from the orchestra . . .

. . . self awareness

. . . self satisfaction

. . . self confidence

Teamwork

The orchestra coordinates individual abilities into one central effort. It gives children the feeling of group loyalty and motivation. An orchestra stimulates and defines and gives the child that essential feeling of belonging.

Discipline

The orchestra teaches responsibility. Emphasis is placed on following instructions and teaches the child respect for music and group effect.

Concentration

Attention to detail is vital in all education-related projects. Concentration built in the orchestra often carries over to other areas, improving study habits and increasing intellectual understanding and curiosity.

Personal Achievement

Recognizing, meeting and overcoming a challenge may be the single most rewarding experience of all. Orchestra participation offers that opportunity by providing a learning experience where growth and fulfillment can occur.

Appreciation

Orchestra participation encourages respect and appreciation for aesthetic values and the beauty of the music created.

A Career

Some young orchestra participants possess the talent, drive and self discipline necessary to create a performing career. The achievement of maximum individual potential could lead to college scholarships and other financially beneficial arrangements.

Quality Educator Approved Instruments

Eckroth Music selects only the highest quality instruments for the young orchestral student, knowing that a poorly constructed instrument will frustrate the young musician and waste the money of the parent.

Consider Our "After the Sale" Service Repair (and many other questions) are inevitable facts of life. Eckroth Music sales associates are friendly, knowledgeable and listen to your concerns.

Ask for Help Our sales associates are a great resource! They are professionally trained, and work hand-in-hand with your local school.

Violin Unaltered for centuries, the violin is perhaps the most widely recognized orchestral instrument. Whether you call it a violin or a fiddle, it is the string family's soprano or highest voice. High pitched, beautifully toned, the violin is often used as a lead or solo instrument, particularly in music demanding fast passage work.

Viola Played in much the same manner as the violin, the viola is slightly larger and tuned differently than the violin. A larger tone chamber endows the viola with its mellow qualities and enables it to produce sombre, moody tones. The alto voice of the string family, the viola adds depth and richness and is vital for string ensembles and quartets.

Cello Officially known as the violoncello, the cello represents the tenor voice of the string section. Tuned a full octave lower than the viola, the cello produces deep lower registers and subdued higher tones. Unlike either the violin or the viola, the cello is supported on the floor by an endpin while the seated performer steadies the instrument with their knees.

Bass The double bass, or string bass, is the largest and lowest instrument of the string family. The double bass has rounded shoulders instead of square shoulders like other string instruments. Because of its size, the player stands or sits on a high stool to play it. The double bass plays a wide assortment of music, from Classical to Broadway to Jazz. Like the violin, viola, and cello, it is plucked or drawn with the use of a bow.
